BENVENUTO!

For the second time in as many months the Michelin 24H SERIES European Series has arrived in Italy, this time as the hotly contested championship reaches its halfway point – round three of the season, the Michelin 12H MISANO!

After a fabulous maiden 12H MISANO last year, which was ultimately dominated by Audi and Porsche entries, the Creventic run Michelin 24H SERIES returns to Misano World Circuit Marco Simoncelli for more spectacular action from some of the top teams and drivers in the sport.

While renowned for motorcycle racing, the 4.2 kilometre and 16 turn track is every bit as popular for fans of four wheeled competition. As last season's 12-hour race undoubtedly proved, it's a superb place for endurance car racing of the highest standard.

Going into this weekend's race, consistent Mercedes-AMG GT3 EVO squad HOFOR Racing is not only the joint-leader of the GT3-AM class standings but is also tied on points at the top of the overall GT3 battle with Ferrari 296 GT3 team Scuderia Praha, leaders of GT3 PRO-AM.

Audi R8 entrant Juta Racing is equal on points with HOFOR at the top of GT3-AM and also fifth in the outright standings. Notably, Juta finished second overall during the inaugural 12H MISANO last year with its Audi... can they go one better in 2025?

Thanks to its wonderful location just a short distance from the Adriatic coast, the circuit is often blessed with glorious weather – although gusts of wind blowing in from the sea can be a factor for drivers to consider and manage.

With a great mix of technical corners and high-speed straights, Misano does offer some key overtaking opportunities. Additionally, the smooth surface, combined with the Michelin tyres being utilised for the first time this year in the 24H SERIES, will deliver plentiful grip for drivers to enjoy.

Qualifying on Friday, 23 May, will be spread over six sessions in total – three for the GTX, GT4 and TCE-TCX classes and three others for the GT3 and 992 classes. The big race on Saturday, 24 May, will begin at 09.30hrs local time with the chequered flag falling at 21.30hrs.

Those who can't be trackside can keep up with every minute of the Michelin 12H Misano, qualifying and racing, by visiting our Creventic Motorsports TV channel on YouTube. The official championship website www.24hseries.com will also have links to Creventic Motorsports TV and live timing.

We're delighted to be back in Italy so soon, and relishing a fantastic return to action in Misano!

Behind garage doors

with Joe Bradley

The 24H Series returns to Italy for round 3 of the European Championship and the fabulously challenging Misano World Circuit. Situated on the Adriatic coast it is a popular venue for teams and drivers as not far away is the beach and a chance of grilled sardines.

The circuit first came to notice in 1972 when it was then known as Circuito Internazionale Santamonica. Track length at that time was 3.8 KM, but was extended to just over 4 KM and renamed Misano. It has 16 turns, with six right hand and ten left hand turns. The longest straight is 565 metres long.

In last months column we took a look at how the corner names were derived at the Circuit de Spa so I thought this month we would do the same and take a look at the corner names here at Misano.

The circuit itself is named after the motorcycle racer Marco Simoncelli who was tragically killed in 2011 at the Malaysian Grand Prix. From the start of the lap we head into a sequence of corners forming an esses to start the lap. this section is named 'Variante del Parco' which translates as 'The Park Corner'. It isn't hard to work out that this is due to the nearby location of the public park in the town of Misano.

We then come to the right hander at 'The Curva Brutapela'. Named after The nearby Farm owner by Mr Brutapela. This is a favourite overtake spot gathering momentum from the first sequence of bends at Parco. Brutapela is also known as 'Rio' which I've presumed is due to the proximity of a river but have been unable to find any background on this.

There is a relatively long run down the back straight to the Turn 8 left hand Hairpin, another ideal overtaking opportunity. This one all done on the brakes rewarding the brave. This hairpin is named 'Quercia' which translates to English as 'Oak'. 'The Oak Hairpin'. Turn 9 and 10 are called 'Tramonto. Which means 'Sunset'. Easy to understand as the Sun goes down giving us the wonderful backdrop at that time of day. Its a tricky part of the track as you are braking through the kink of turn 9 to hit the late apex for the tight right hand hairpin of 10 making it tricky for overtaking.

The next sequence is three very fast right hand turns followed quickly by a right hand hairpin. This section has been named 'Curvone del Carro', 'Wagon Curve'. another tricky part as you are braking and turning at the same time.

The all important last turn to complete the lap is called 'Misano' after the nearby town which the circuit itself takes its name from. Its a tight left hander where you must optimise all of the exit kerbing to maximise your speed to the line, but be careful of those 'sausage' kerbs as they will undoubtedly ruin your perfect lap time right at the end.

Now do that for 12 hours without going to far astray and you will have a great Round 3 of the 2025 24H European Championship.
